Railway Terminal Lviv / Ukraine

Design Program and 3rd international Workshop of Urban Design in Lviv, Ukraine in Summersemester 2009

50 Students and Professors of the Schools of Architecture:

- Vienna University of Technology
- L'vivska Polytechnika, Lemberg

in Cooperation with

- City Planning Department Lviv

Topic: Redevelopment of the the Lviv Central Railway Station

The requirements for EUROPOLIS_2012 refer to the urban transformation of the area around the main railway station of Lviv/Lemberg. The specific task is to cover the requirements of an international railway terminal with all its additional functions. An urban attractor for the city of Lviv should be created as well as an international East-West-Hub.

The didactical emphasis focusses the connections between the dimension of urban development goals, urban design and its architectural relevance.

Lemberg (Lviv) is the most important city of Western Ukraine with 700.000 inhabitants. The city has a fascinating history and works as gate between East and West by its direct border proximity to Poland and Slovakia.

The general urbanistic interest in the city of Lviv is frequently because of its City Center on UNESCO's World Heritage List since 1999. But the city has an enormous potential of urban development areas in well situated locations all over the city.

The project EUROPOLIS_2012 organized in the context of co-operation between UT Vienna and L'vivska Polytechnika/Lemberg.

EUROPOLIS_2012 started in march 2009 with an phase of preparation, it continued with an workshop in Lviv from april 25 to march 3. The continuation of the design process was intensified in may and june, the final presentation was on july 2nd at Vienna University of Technology.
